You'll be talking to Himanshu, the founder — not a call centre.

Our ex-Delhi Adi Kailash & Om Parvat Yatra is completely door-to-door: board in Delhi on day 1, and be dropped back on day 8 with both darshans complete. No train bookings, no midnight connections at Kathgodam — one vehicle, one group, one escort throughout.

A word on the 8 days: several operators sell this circuit ex-Delhi in 6 by driving through the night and cutting the Gunji rest day. We won't. The route crosses 4,500 m, and the full acclimatisation day at Gunji (3,200 m) is what keeps headaches, AMS, and turn-backs off your yatra. Two extra days is the honest price of doing it right.

The region requires an Inner Line Permit — our team files it for every yatri before departure. We are a private tour operator based in Pithoragarh, run by Uttarakhand locals; the Vyas Valley is home ground for our drivers and escorts.

Day-wise itinerary

1 Delhi → Bhimtal / Kathgodam

1,370 m

Morning pickup from Anand Vihar / Akshardham and an easy first day out of the plains to Bhimtal, near Kathgodam. Evening by the lake, trip briefing, and permit document check. Overnight stay.

2 Bhimtal → Dharchula

915 m

A full mountain day via Almora and Pithoragarh to Dharchula on the Kali river — the gateway of the Vyas Valley. Overnight stay.

3 Dharchula → Gunji

3,200 m

Climb through Tawaghat and Lakhanpur with permit checks en route, reaching Gunji — our base for the darshan days — by afternoon. Short evening acclimatisation walk.

4 Acclimatisation at Gunji + Kalapani Kali temple

3,600 m

The deliberate acclimatisation day. Darshan at the Kali temple at Kalapani, source of the Kali river. Light walking only — this day is what makes the two high darshan days safe.

5 Gunji → Jolingkong — Adi Kailash darshan → Gunji

4,572 m

Drive to Jolingkong for darshan of Adi Kailash (Chhota Kailash), the Shiva temple, and Parvati Sarovar at its base. Return to Gunji by evening.

6 Gunji → Nabhidhang — Om Parvat darshan → Gunji → Dharchula

4,340 m

Early drive to Nabhidhang for the ॐ darshan on Om Parvat, then descend the valley to Dharchula for a warmer night. Overnight stay.

7 Dharchula → Bhimtal

1,370 m

Retrace the mountain roads through Pithoragarh and Almora to Bhimtal. Evening at leisure. Overnight stay.

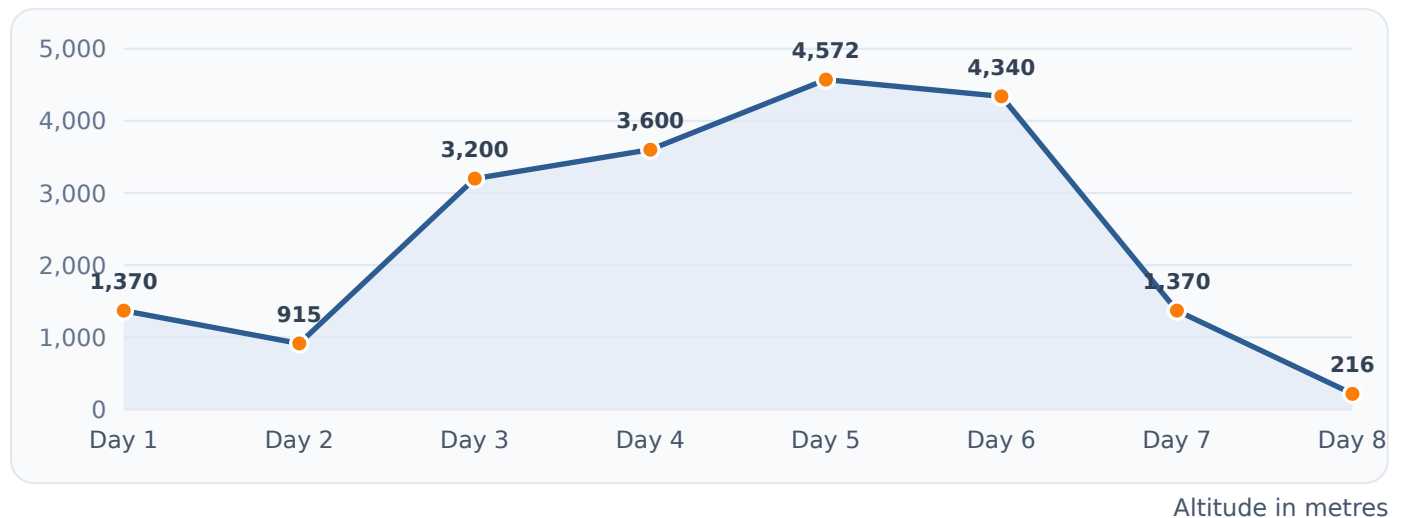

8 Bhimtal → Delhi — yatra concludes

216 m

Morning departure and arrival in Delhi by evening, dropped where we picked you up.
Har Har Mahadev.

Frequently asked questions

Where exactly is the Delhi pickup and drop?

Morning pickup from Anand Vihar / Akshardham on day 1, and drop at the same point on day 8 by evening. Exact time and point are confirmed in your WhatsApp group a few days before departure.

Why 8 days when other operators do ex-Delhi in 6?

Six-day versions drive through the night and cut the Gunji acclimatisation day. We keep sane overnight halts at Bhimtal and the full rest day at Gunji — two extra days is the honest price of crossing 4,500 m safely.

Is the Inner Line Permit included?

Yes — fees and the entire application are handled by our team. You only send documents on WhatsApp at least 2–3 weeks before departure.

What is included in the price?

Transport from Delhi and back, all stays on sharing basis, breakfast and dinner daily with packed lunches on darshan days, the permit, and our escort throughout. Train fares, lunches on driving days, and personal expenses are not included.

Can I join this trip from Kathgodam or Haldwani instead?

Yes — the route passes both on day 1 and day 8, and we adjust the price for the shorter leg. Tell us on WhatsApp where you want to board.
